George Shinn

Owner

Growing up in the small North Carolina town of Kannapolis, businessman George Shinn dreamt of owning a professional sports franchise. Armed with only a love of sports, seasoned sales skills and strong faith, Shinn set out to accomplish this seemingly impossible task in 1985 when he initiated his charge to obtain an NBA franchise. He needed just two years to realize his dream. On April 1, 1987, NBA Commissioner David Stern called Shinn to deliver the good news – he had been selected as the first to receive one of four expansion franchises and would begin play in Charlotte, N.C. in 1988.

As the owner of the team from its inception and the subsequent 14 seasons in Charlotte, Shinn officially filed an application with the NBA on January 17, 2002, to move the Hornets to New Orleans, La., beginning with the 2002-03 season. Four months later, the NBA's Board of Governors unanimously endorsed the Relocation Committee's recommendation to move the team from Charlotte and the New Orleans Hornets were born.

Shinn's leadership and resolve once again came to the forefront when the Hornets were faced with perhaps the biggest challenge in franchise history. In the aftermath of the tragedy caused by Hurricane Katrina, he was able to work with the NBA to secure the team a temporary home in Oklahoma City for the 2005-06 season. Under his leadership, the Hornets turned a potentially devastating situation into one of sports' most uplifting success stories when they finished 11th in the league in attendance. The 2006-07 season was again split between New Orleans and Oklahoma City, and Shinn's business and marketing acumen were key to successfully executing games, special events and charitable efforts in both cities. In the summer of 2007, he brought the Hornets back to Louisiana on a full-time basis and focused his efforts on two goals: the successful relocation of his business and the rebuilding of New Orleans.

The 2007-08 season in New Orleans was the most successful in franchise history on and off the court. The team had a franchise-best 56 wins, won the Southwest Division title for the first time and helped turn New Orleans into a basketball city. Shinn continuously shows his commitment to bringing home a championship to New Orleans. He played an integral role in the new designs of the Hornets logos and uniforms for the 2008-09 season, using his commitment and passion for New Orleans as inspiration.

As a champion of the causes of education and responsible corporate citizenship, Shinn takes great pride in creating, implementing and supporting a variety of initiatives that leave a positive and lasting impact in the community.

He has made significant financial contributions to organizations such as the United Way and served as co-chair for the fundraising committee at Tulane University. During last year's Season of Giving initiative, Shinn and his wife, Denise, teamed up with Mayor Ray Nagin to support his annual toy drive, purchased 50 bicycles to donate to underprivileged children, hosted 1,000 local senior citizens for a holiday luncheon and donated new shoes and socks to clients at the Grace House and Bridge House addiction recovery centers. Every year on his birthday, Shinn spends time at hospital maternity wards donating diapers, bottles and other essentials to every mother who gives birth on May 11th.

During the Hornets' tenure in Oklahoma City, Shinn reciprocated the generosity the team received by reaching out to the community at every opportunity. He and Denise led a group of 75 staff members in a Breast Health Awareness March, an effort which earned him recognition as a Pink Tie Guy, a highly-respected community leader that has made significant contributions to the Susan G. Komen Foundation's goals and aims. During the holidays, Shinn spearheaded the team's Season of Giving activities that included a luncheon for 1,000 senior citizens and a shoe giveaway at a downtown homeless shelter. And when tragedy struck the OKC Police Department, he responded with the largest single donation ever made locally to a slain officer's fund.

These examples of dedication to making a difference in the community come from the core of Shinn's personality and background.

As a young man in Kannapolis, Shinn worked in a textile mill, at a car wash and even as a janitor in a school that he would eventually own. Lessons learned in those humble beginnings would soon pay off when in 1975, at the age of 34, Shinn was the youngest person ever awarded the prestigious Horatio Alger Award, which recognizes "rags-to-riches" business leaders who achieve success while maintaining values in patriotism, faith and civic involvement. His purchase and development of the Rutledge Education System and its chain of proprietary business schools would form the cornerstone of his fortune and eventually lead him to real estate developments, auto dealerships, publishing ventures and professional sports franchises including the Hornets, the Charlotte Knights AAA minor league baseball team and the Charlotte Checkers and Atlantic City Boardwalk Bullies, both of the East Coast Hockey League. Although he owns championship rings from the Knights and the Bullies and a World Series ring as a AAA affiliate of the Florida Marlins, Shinn's number one goal has been and will continue to be winning an NBA championship with the Hornets.

Shinn was inspired to share his success secrets with others and authored five books, including his 1977 autobiography "Good Morning, Lord!" (later re-printed as "The American Dream Still Works") and "Leadership Development," which became a best-selling college textbook. Later, a biographical account of his life and experiences as an NBA owner was told in "You Gotta' Believe," and he published "Introduction to Professional Selling" and "Miracle of Motivation," which are still on the market today.

His success in the publishing world makes Shinn a highly sought-after public speaker, especially on topics related to sales and motivation.

For a lifetime of achievement in business and higher education, Shinn was one of twelve to receive an American Success Award from President Bush in a White House ceremony. He also holds six honorary degrees in humanities.

Shinn and his wife, Denise, were married in New Orleans on March 8, 2003. He has three children, Chris, Susan and Chad, from a previous marriage.

Gary Chouest Minority Owner

Gary Chouest joined the Hornets family as minority owner on July 24, 2007 when he purchased 25-percent of the New Orleans Hornets. A longtime Hornets season ticket holder and noted basketball enthusiast, Chouest's local ties, passion for the sport and commitment to rebuilding and improving the Gulf South region made him the ideal partner for the Shinn family.

Chouest currently serves as President and CEO of the Edison Chouest Offshore companies. Based out of Galliano, La., the Chouest group of companies build, own and operate marine vessels, employing over 5,000 men and women worldwide.

Edison Chouest Offshore evolved from a two vessel shrimping operation founded by Edison Chouest, Sr. (Gary's father) in the 1950s to one of the premier owners and operators of specialty marine vessels in the world. Gary joined the company full-time at age 19 and has since worked in all capacities, starting out as a deckhand and working his way up to captain.

Chouest was instrumental in the formation of North American Shipbuilding in 1974. The shipyard was founded in response to clients' demands for higher-quality and more specialized vessels. Located in Larose, La., this world-class facility builds only for Chouest-affiliated companies. Following the success of North American Shipbuilding, Chouest opened up three more shipyards: North American Fabricators (Houma, La.), Gulf Ship (Gulfport, Miss.), and, most recently, NavShip (Brazil).

In 1996, Chouest entered into a new business with the formation of C-Port. C-Port stands as the hub of Port Fourchon, the Gulf of Mexico's premier deepwater port. Purpose-designed to reduce port turnaround time, the two C-Port terminals comprise 18 specialized slips, configured to safely and efficiently transfer cargo and provide a wide range of support services to accommodate the largest of deepwater offshore vessels.

Gary has been married to his wife, Carolyn, for 43 years. They have one daughter (Dionne) and four sons (Dino, Damon, Casey and Ross). Four of his children are actively involved in the family business, and the entire Chouest family can be found enthusiastically cheering on the Hornets at each home game. The Chouests also actively participate in the Hornets' numerous community initiatives.

Hugh Weber

President

As president of the New Orleans Hornets, Hugh Weber facilitates all business aspects of the Hornets franchise, including strategic planning, business development, marketing/branding and day-to-day operations for more than 125 employees. Following the direction of Hornets Owner George Shinn, Weber is tasked to instill the Hornets values at every level of the organization, encouraging the entire Hornets family to display passion, purpose and pride in every aspect of life.

Prior to his role as team president, Weber served as chief operations officer and vice president of business operations, overseeing all aspects of the New Orleans market while the team was headquartered temporarily in Oklahoma City.

The organization, guided by Weber's strategic vision and extensive leadership, has experienced as much success off the court as the team has produced on the court. The Hornets have exceeded the 10,000 season tickets sold benchmark for the first time in New Orleans and are committed to numerous community initiatives set forth by the Shinn family as the entire Hornets organization continues to assist with the revitalization of the New Orleans area.

Hugh and his wife, Julie, reside in New Orleans and have four children, Brenna (13), Zoë (13), Hugh, III (7) and Jackson (6). In his spare time, Weber enjoys running, golfing, reading and spending time with his wife and children.

Chad Shinn

Executive Officer of the Board

Chad Shinn has been closely involved with the Hornets organization since its inception in 1987. As executive officer of the board, he advises the ownership and senior management groups on key decisions and strategies for the team's business and basketball operations.

During the 2007-08 season, Shinn played a key role in developing the inspiration for the "Fleur de Bee" patch which was launched as the team's secondary logo for the 2008-09 season.

In 2007, Shinn spearheaded the organization's return home to New Orleans after Hurricane Katrina forced the franchise to temporarily reside in Oklahoma City for two seasons. He coordinated and led "Team 504," a committee comprised of staff members focused on the logistics of moving the business and more than 75 staff members and their families.

In his previous experience with the Hornets, Shinn worked with several different departments to learn the daily operations of the organization. He spent the 2004-05 season as an assistant to the general manager and equipment manager, and during the 2005-06 season he served as special assistant to the owner and president.

Shinn graduated from Texas Tech University High School in Charlotte, N.C., attended community college in Greenville, N.C., and was most recently enrolled at Tulane University. He currently resides in New Orleans and is a member of the Board of Trustees for Loyola University.

Jeff Bower
General Manager

Jeff Bower's versatility has been an invaluable asset to the Hornets' basketball staff during his 14-plus seasons with the club. As the team's general manager, he handles all day-to-day basketball operations and oversees player personnel decisions, the coordination of schedules for the entire scouting staff, and the compilation of data in preparation for the NBA Draft.

The 2007-08 Hornets squad set a franchise record with 56 wins, representing the culmination of Bower's efforts to rebuild the team following the 2004-05 season. The Hornets have completed a 38-game turnaround in just three seasons under his direction. The current record-setting roster was formed when Bower was able to keep certain pieces that were key to the Hornets' previous success and combine them with new additions that he felt the team needed to reach the next level.

Bower's first season as general manager (2005-06) resulted in a 20-win improvement over the previous season (best in the NBA). That success fueled him to build on the team's momentum and overhaul the roster for the 2006-07 campaign. Through an intricate series of moves on both a large and small scale, a new and improved roster was formed (including free agents Peja Stojakovic and Jannero Pargo and trade acquisition Tyson Chandler) and the Hornets had completed their busiest and most exciting offseason in franchise history. Perhaps most impressive of all was the fact that Bower was able to accomplish his goals, fill the desired roster spots and add the exact players he targeted while keeping the team under the salary cap. Despite being hit with a slew of injuries (Stojakovic missed 69 games, Chris Paul missed 18 games, David West missed 30 games and Jackson missed 26 games), Bower's 2006-07 Hornets were still able to exceed the previous season's win total and were in contention for a playoff spot until the final week of the regular season.

Bower began his tenure with the Hornets as an advance scout from 1995 to 1997 before earning a promotion as the team's director of scouting (where he served from the 1997-98 season through 1999-00). In addition to his scouting duties during the 1998-99 season, Bower joined the coaching ranks as an assistant after Paul Silas was named interim head coach on March 7, 1999 (and helped him lead the Hornets to a 22-13 record). He was named assistant general manager for the 2000-01 season. On June 4, 2001, Bower was promoted to general manager (under then-Vice President of Basketball Operations Bob Bass) and held that position through the 2002-03 season. He returned to the bench as an assistant coach under Tim Floyd in 2003-04 before returning to the front office as director of player personnel in 2004-05. Bower's years of experience working at all levels in the Hornets' basketball operations department culminated with his appointment to the current post of general manager just prior to the start of the team's 2005-06 training camp.

Prior to joining the Hornets, Bower enjoyed an impressive career at the collegiate level. He spent three years as an assistant coach at Penn State University from 1983-86 before moving to Marist College in Poughkeepsie, N.Y. After first serving as an assistant coach from 1986 through 1990, he was promoted to associate head coach, a position he held for five years. Bower helped lead the Red Foxes to an NCAA Tournament appearance in 1987 after winning the Northeast Conference. He also coached former Indiana Pacers center Rik Smits, the second overall pick in the 1988 NBA Draft, for two years during his time at Marist.

In addition to his college and NBA accolades, Bower was a three-time guest of the International Basketball Academy held in Pula, Croatia, where he gave coaching clinics and provided instruction to players.

Byron Scott

Head Coach

As head coach of the Hornets for the last four seasons, Byron Scott has led the team through a complete restructuring, an unprecedented two-year run playing for two cities due to a horrific natural disaster and a staggering rash of injuries to the greatest season in Hornets history. In fighting through obstacles, he has instilled the team with the tenacity and mental toughness that helped him reach eight NBA Finals (and win three NBA titles) as a player and coach and garner 2007-08 Coach of the Year award.

Scott exceeded all expectations other than his own in the 2007-08 season after leading the team to a franchise record 56 wins and establishing the Hornets as one of the elite teams in the ultra-competitive Western Conference. The Hornets' team success translated into individual honors for Scott, as he was named head coach of the Western Conference All-Star Team (making him one of just six coaches to man the sidelines for both conferences) and Western Conference Coach of the Month for January (making him just the eighth coach in NBA history to earn Coach of the Month honors in both conferences). Along the way, Scott led the Hornets to the second-best road record (26-15) in the Western Conference and the second-most wins (34) against the Western Conference of any team in the NBA. They also eclipsed last season's win total on March 3.

Scott's first season as head coach saw the team post an 18-64 mark after the decision was made to restructure the team and look toward the future. Scott's second season on the bench was perhaps his most satisfying as a head coach. Just prior to the start of training camp, the team was displaced from its New Orleans home by Hurricane Katrina and landed in Oklahoma City. He would lead the team from the sidelines in four different home arenas and still manage to guide them to a 38-44 record. The 20-game turnaround was the best in the NBA that season, leading to Scott finishing fifth in NBA Coach of the Year balloting. The 2006-07 season began with high expectations and huge promise, but a slew of injuries hampered the Hornets' drive for a playoff spot. The team lost 196 player games due to injury but still managed to stay in contention for the postseason until the final week of the regular season.

Scott came to the Hornets after three-and-a-half seasons in New Jersey, during which time he compiled a 149-139 (.517) record and took the Nets from the bottom of the Eastern Conference (only three teams were worse the season before he arrived) to one of the NBA's elite teams.

He posted a 26-56 mark in his first year with the Nets (2000-01), but guided them to a 52-30 record and a trip to the NBA Finals in the 2001-02 season (just his second as a head coach at any level). The 52 wins were a Nets franchise record and represented the sixth-best turnaround (26 games) in NBA history. The team enjoyed several other franchise firsts, including the Atlantic Division title, the best record in the Eastern Conference and a 50-win season. For his efforts, Scott was named head coach of the Eastern Conference All-Star Team during the 2002 All-Star Game in Philadelphia.

Under Scott's leadership, the Nets finished 49-33 and returned to the Finals in 2002-03. The team captured its second consecutive Atlantic Division crown and once again rolled through the playoffs. After losing the first two games of their Finals matchup with the Spurs, Scott led the Nets back with two consecutive wins to tie the series before they eventually lost in six games.

Prior to joining the Nets, Scott spent two seasons (1998-99 and 1999-00) as an assistant coach with the Sacramento Kings. During his two years in Sacramento, the team posted their first back-to-back winning seasons (27-23 and 44-38) in 20 years. Scott's responsibilities with the Kings included reviewing offensive game plans, advance scouting and individual skill work with perimeter players.

Scott began his coaching career after 14 years as a player in the NBA with Los Angeles (1983-93, 1996-97), Indiana (1993-95) and Vancouver (1995-96). Scott, who holds career averages of 14.1 points, 2.8 rebounds and 2.5 assists, won three NBA championships (1985, 1987, 1988) as a key member of the Lakers' "Showtime" era. He experienced only two losing seasons as a player and his teams qualified for the playoffs in 13 of his 14 seasons. His 183 career playoff games ranks seventh all-time behind Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, Scottie Pippen, Danny Ainge, Magic Johnson, Robert Parish and Karl Malone. His best season came during the Lakers' 1988 championship run, when he averaged 21.7 points, 4.1 rebounds and 4.1 assists. After spending his 14th and final NBA season with the Lakers, Scott played one season in Greece for Panathinaikos, where he led the team to a championship.

Scott entered the NBA as the fourth overall selection in the 1983 NBA Draft by the San Diego Clippers before his rights were traded to the Lakers. He played collegiately at Arizona State, where he finished his career as the school's all-time leading scorer with 1,752 points. Scott was named First Team All-Pac 10 as a senior after averaging 21.6 points, 5.4 rebounds and 3.1 assists.

The native of Inglewood, Calif., has an equally impressive record off the court. His non-profit organization, The Byron Scott Children's Fund, has raised more than $6 million over the past decade, with the proceeds going to various children's charities. Scott continued to broaden his résumé during the 2003-04 season when he served as a studio analyst for ABC's NBA telecasts.

Scott and his wife, Anita, have three children, Thomas, LonDen and DaRon.

Kenny Gattison

Assistant Coach

Kenny Gattison enters his sixth season on the Hornets bench in 2008-09. He re-joined the Hornets organization in 2003-04 as an assistant coach after playing six seasons for the team from 1989 to 1995. When Byron Scott was named head coach in May 2004, Gattison was the first assistant coach added to his staff (the two were teammates with the Vancouver Grizzlies during the 1995-96 season).

Since retiring from the NBA as a player following the 1995-96 season, Gattison has built an impressive résumé as a coach. He spent two seasons as an assistant under Blaine Taylor at his alma mater of Old Dominion University and was also on the New Jersey Nets' bench as an assistant coach under John Calipari from 1996-98. In addition, Gattison has served as head coach for the Hornets' entry in the Vegas Summer League for the past three seasons.

Gattison enjoyed a nine-year career in the NBA before retiring after the 1995-96 season. He finished with career averages of 4.7 points and 7.9 rebounds with a .520 (1,536-2,956) career field goal percentage in 494 games. Gattison began his career in Phoenix after being drafted by the Suns in the third round (55th pick overall) of the 1986 NBA Draft. After averaging 5.2 points and 3.5 rebounds in 77 games as a rookie in 1986-87, Gattison tore the ACL in his left knee and missed the 1987-88 season. He played two games for the Suns in 1988-89 before signing in Europe.

The Hornets signed the 6-8 Gattison as a free agent on Dec. 2, 1989 after he began the season with the CBA's Quad City Thunder. He went on to play six years with the team, averaging 8.4 points and 5.0 rebounds in 390 games as a member of the Hornets. He shot .529 (1,297-2,454) from the field over his Hornets career, ranking him first in franchise history, while he ranks fifth all-time in blocks (283), fifth all-time in offensive rebounding (622) and fifth all-time in games played (390). Gattison's best season came as a Hornet when he averaged 12.7 ppg, 7.1 rpg, 1.6 apg and 0.8 bpg while playing in 82 games during the 1991-92 campaign.

The Vancouver Grizzlies selected Gattison in the first round (16th overall pick) of the 1995 Expansion Draft. He began the 1995-96 season with the Grizzlies, where he averaged 9.2 points and 4.6 rebounds, but was traded to Orlando along with a second round pick for Jeff Turner on Feb. 22. Gattison did not play in a game with the Magic and retired following the end of the season.

Gattison finished his career at ODU as one of the school's greatest athletes. He was named Sun Belt Conference Player of the Year as a senior and garnered All-Sun Belt honors twice. He finished his career as the conference's all-time leading rebounder and currently stands second in the league's history. At ODU, he ranks fifth in the career rebounding category. He averaged 13.3 ppg and 7.9 rpg during his four-year career and was named to the Sun Belt Conference All-Decade Team.

Gattison graduated from Old Dominion with a bachelor's degree in distributive education, specializing in personnel management. A native of Wilmington, N.C., Gattison and his wife, Harriet, have three sons, Kyle, Bryce and Grant and a daughter, Natasha.

Paul Pressey Assistant Coach

Paul Pressey enters his second season as assistant coach of the Hornets. He joined the Hornets as an assistant coach on July 1, 2007. He brought with him the experience of 26 seasons as a coach and player on the professional level.

Pressey's last coaching position was at the Boston Celtics, where he was an assistant coach for two seasons (2004-2006) and an advance scout for one season (2006-07). During his time in Boston, the Celtics compiled a 102-144 (.415) overall record and made the playoffs once.

Prior to working with the Celtics, Pressey spent four seasons (2000-2004) as an assistant coach for the Orlando Magic. The Richmond, Va. native spent six seasons as an assistant coach with the San Antonio Spurs prior to the Magic, helping the Spurs capture their first-ever NBA Championship in 1998-99.

Pressey enjoyed an 11-year NBA career as a player, appearing in 724 regular season games with Milwaukee and San Antonio. Selected 21st overall by the Milwaukee Bucks in the 1982 NBA Draft, Pressey averaged 10.6 points, 5.6 assists and 3.9 rebounds per game. His best season came in 1984-85 when he averaged 16.1 points, 6.8 assists and 5.4 rebounds per game and was named to the NBA All-Defensive Team as a member of the Bucks.

Prior to the 1992-93 season, Pressey was named an assistant coach for the Golden State Warriors, but after a rash of injuries he was forced back to the court and appeared in 18 games. He spent the entire 1993-94 season as an assistant coach with the Warriors.

Pressey began his collegiate career at Western Texas Junior College, leading his team to a 37-0 record and a JUCO National Title, before playing at the University of Tulsa. He graduated from Tulsa in 1982 with a degree in physical education. Pressey helped bring national recognition and the 1981 NIT Championship to The University of Tulsa, leading the Golden Hurricane to a 50-13 record in two seasons. Pressey earned All-America honors as a senior in the 1981-82 season and was named the MVC Player of the Year.

In his last five seasons at Wayne State, all of Parker's teams finished in the top 20 in various Division II polls and made three tournament appearances. While at Wayne State, Parker was honored as the GLIAC Coach of the Year on two occasions (1984 and 1987) and was also heralded as the Michigan Coach of the Year in 1984. Your cooperation is requested in maintaining a professional atmosphere in the locker room for pre and post game interviews. Per NBA policy, use of cellular phones in the locker room is prohibited. Head Coach Byron Scott will be available approximately 10 minutes following the game in the pressroom.

Game Notes and Statistics

Game notes and additional press materials are available in the pressroom three hours before each game. Statistics are distributed to the working media during the game and are also available in the pressroom. Postgame notes and quotes are distributed a short time following the completion of the game. Statistics monitors are provided at court-side for television and radio broadcasts as well as for print and television media.

Fax Service

The Hornets will provide complimentary fax service to members of the working media following each game. Please contact a member of the communications department if you need to use the fax machine.

Weekly newspaper photographers will be handled on an individual game basis. Photographs are also available from the communications department. Photographers must be on assignment for a publication to be credentialed. Limited space is available at each end of the court for both television and still photographers. Photographers must stay in the designated area. Photographers may not sit on equipment cases and live television cameras have first priority on location and right of way. All NBA league rules regarding photography apply.

Hornets believe in helping dreams come true.

The Shinn Foundation

A champion of the causes of education and responsible corporate citizenship, Hornets owner George Shinn and wife, Denise, take great pride in creating, implementing and supporting a variety of initiatives that leave a positive and lasting impact in the community. Providing financial support for these initiatives is the Shinn Foundation, the team's primary fundraising vehicle for all community programs and charitable contributions. Denise Shinn is the president of the Foundation and takes an active and leading role with a number of the team's charitable and community-based efforts throughout the year including an annual black tie gala, tip-off luncheon and Season of Giving initiatives.

Hoops for Homes

The Hornets' Hoops for Homes initiative was established to assist the New Orleans community rebuild after the devastation of Hurricanes Katrina and Rita. To date, the Shinn Foundation has raised approximately $1.5 million to finance this rebuilding project, and 11 homes in the area have been completed because of it. To expand the scope of the Hoops for Homes program, the Hornets have started Hoops for Homes Teachers' Initiative, which provides "stop gap" funding to teachers residing in the metropolitan New Orleans area who lack adequate funds to complete repairs on their homes. With the help of Tyson Chandler's Rebound to Rebound program, two teachers have received $25,000 each for repairs, with another 37 selected to receive assistance.

Summer Hoops Clinics

This summer, the Hornets brought the excitement of New Orleans Hornets Basketball to more than 1,800 kids through 11 free basketball clinics across southeastern Louisiana. Participants received three hours of instruction on basketball fundamentals from Hornets players Julian Wright, Mike James and Ryan Bowen.

Read to Achieve

Read to Achieve is an NBA initiative aimed at developing a lifelong love of reading in children and promoting literacy around the country and world. The Hornets' Read to Achieve efforts focus on elementary school children through Read to Achieve Timeouts and Bookmobile visits. During a "Timeout", a Hornets player or personality will make an appearance at a local school, stressing the importance of reading in all aspects of life. The Bookmobile is a learning center on wheels, dressed with the Hornets colors, logos and even a replica of the Hornets court and full of free books to pass out to local students. Last season, the Bookmobile distributed more than 30,000 free books to local children. For more information about the Bookmobile, please contact Whitney Mitchell at (504) 593-4863.

Season of Giving

During the holidays, the Hornets and the Shinn family give back to the community in a series of events that include giveaways, shopping sprees and an annual senior luncheon. Last season, the Shinn family teamed up with Mayor Ray Nagin to collect toys for his annual toy drive, gave 50 new bikes to local underprivileged children at a home game and donated socks and shoes to the residents at Bridge House and Grace House rehabilitation centers. The generosity continued as several Hornets players worked together to provide 400 families in New Orleans with meals and personal care items. Hornets center Tyson Chandler took 10 children on a holiday shopping spree, while Morris Peterson and Rasual Butler gave out toys and gifts on Christmas Eve. The annual Seniors Christmas Luncheon was also a huge hit as the entire Hornets staff served lunch to 1,000 senior citizens.

Drives and Giveaways

Throughout the season the Hornets hold canned food drives to support local agencies. Thanks to the generosity of our fans, drives in New Orleans and Oklahoma City collected more than 35,000 cans of food and over $4,000 for local agencies.

Canned Food Drives

Throughout the season, the Hornets hold canned food drives to support local agencies. Last season, fans were encouraged to donate five canned food items prior to the Hornets vs. Warriors game in exchange for a Chris Paul youth jersey. Donations exceeded 6,000 pounds which provided more than 4,700 meals to hungry residents, making it one of the most successful food drives at a professional sporting event in Second Harvest history.

Wish Requests

The Hornets support a variety of organizations that grant wishes for terminally or chronically ill children from around the country. For more information, please contact Devyn Smith at (504) 593-4862.

Hornets Player Ticket Groups

Every season, members of the Hornets squad purchase season ticket packages or partial plans to donate to non-profit organizations that work with underserved children. Last season, Hornets players Chris Paul, David West, Peja Stojakovic, Ryan Bowen, Morris Peterson and Julian Wright purchased these tickets. These kids are given the opportunity to attend a Hornets home game, and wear a commemorative T-shirt with the logo of that player's section.

Susan G. Komen for the Cure

For the past eight years, the Hornets have worked with Susan G. Komen for the Cure to raise breast health awareness and money for research in finding a cure for breast cancer. Each season, the Hornets host a Pack the Hive in Pink theme night to honor breast cancer survivors and breast health heroes, and also make a donation to Susan G. Komen for the Cure.

Louisiana 4-H

The Hornets host a 4-H Night at a home game during the season, welcoming more than 2,000 children from 4-H clubs across the state of Louisiana. This night allows clubs to recognize their top members, showcase the benefits of being a 4-H member and raise money for each parish and state organization.

Speakers Bureau/Hugo & Honeybee Appearances

Players, coaches, broadcasters, executives, Hugo and Honeybees are available for appearances and speaking engagements throughout the year. Please contact Brittany Cranston at (504) 593-4825 to arrange for a speaker; Justin Bailey at (504) 593-4838 to arrange for a visit from Hugo; and Ashley Deaton at (504) 593-4840 to arrange for an appearance by the Honeybees.

Hornets Memorabilia and Donation Requests

Charities and organizations seeking support for an upcoming event or program should send a formal request to: Community Investment Department, New Orleans Hornets; 1250 Poydras, 19th Floor; New Orleans, LA 70113. All requests must appear on official organization letterhead and be delivered at least 4-6 weeks prior to the event. Please include the date of the event, 501-C3 tax ID number, purpose of the event or programs and a contact name, telephone number and address.

The Honeybees dance squad has helped make the Hornets not only one of the hottest tickets in town, but also one of the most entertaining. The Honeybees bring excitement to Hornets games by performing innovative dance routines to a variety of music, and played a big role in the Hornets being honored with a No. 1 ranking in game presentation in the entire league last season.

Away from the court, the Honeybees are active in the community by making appearances throughout the year. Last season, the Honeybees were the featured dancers at the 2008 NBA All-Star Game and were invited this summer to perform in France to promote the NBA Europe Live tour. In the past, they have performed at USBL and NBA Development League games, as well as nationally-televised events like the ESPN College Slam Dunk and Three-Point Championship. High-energy routines, a glamorous look and a unique brand of audience interaction make the Honeybees an excellent addition to any special event including grand openings, golf tournaments, trade shows, holiday/birthday parties and more.

Honeybees

For 20 years, Hugo the Hornet has delighted fans with his daring acrobatics and innovative comic routines to become one of the most beloved and recognizable mascots in the NBA.

Hugo is known to entertain fans with any one of his three identities. As Hugo the Hornet, he is at his best when interacting with fans both young and old. As Air Hugo, an inflated version of the mascot, he amuses the Hornet faithful with his unique style of dancing. And as Super Hugo, he amazes the crowd with gravity-defying dunks such as the "Flip Dunk," the "Helmet Dunk" and the famous "Bug on the Windshield Dunk," which helped him become a three-time NBA Mascot Slam Dunk Champion.

While Hugo is found at all Hornets home games during the season, he also makes more than 200 appearances per year for charities, fundraisers and other special events. The lovable bug also spends a great deal of his spare time visiting hospitals, schools and nursing homes.

Hugo has performed at multiple NBA All-Star Games and was recently invited to travel to Korea for the league's NBA Madness event. He has also made appearances at numerous player charity events, MVT Rock-N-Jock Basketball Jams and has traveled the world to perform in countries such as Costa Rica, France, the Netherlands, Italy, Argentina and Australia.

Invite Hugo to buzz by your next special event. Whether it's community, business, sports or any other occasion, nothing puts a little sting in your event like an appearance by Hugo. For more information, please visit Hornets.com or call Justin Bailey at (504) 593-4838.

The Stingers Junior Hip-Hop dance squad is made up of 24 talented boys and girls between the ages of seven and 12 who perform fast-paced routines to hip-hop and Top 40 hits. These kids take the court with a big presence, and their high-energy performance style leaves the crowd energized.

The Stingers perform at approximately 10 Hornets home games and can also be found at Hornets' special events.

To have the Stingers appear at your next event or for more information, please call Ashley Deaton at (504) 593-4840 or e-mail Stingers@hornets.com.

The Used to Bees senior dance squad made their debut at the Hive last season and became an instant fan favorite. This lively bunch is made up of 20 young-at-heart females, and one brave gentleman, all over the age of 55. Their routines combine old school moves with some new hip-hop flair, and they have become one of the most buzzed about entertainment teams to take the court.

For more information about the Used to Bees, please contact Ashley Deaton at (504) 593-4840.

The Hornets Drumline consists of 11 talented members from New Orleans very own Master's Touch Drumline. Under the direction of Mr. Calvin Berry, each member is required to maintain a 3.0 or above GPA on their road to becoming well accomplished and respected musicians. The "HDL" can be seen at Hornets home games entertaining fans with their unique stick work and rhythmic sounds.

For additional information on booking the Hornets Drumline for your next event, call 504-593-4834 or email Keisham@hornets.com.

The French Quarter Flyers are the New Orleans Hornets own high-flying dunk team that is not afraid of flying above the rim. You can catch the team performing electrifying acrobatic dunks at a Hornets home game or taking their show on the road within the New Orleans community.

"Hornets' Phills Dies in Car Crash" was the January 12, 2000 headline. The city of Charlotte was deeply saddened to lose one of its own, Hornets guard Bobby Phills. In June of 2000, Kendall Phills, wife of the late Bobby Phills, established The Bobby Phills Scholarship Fund, Inc. (BPSF) in honor of her husband.

Bobby Ray Phills' life epitomized high academic achievement, dedication to family and a commitment to community. An All-American honor student, Phills graduated cum laude from Southern University in Baton Rouge, La. He went on to a remarkable career in the NBA. Grateful for his gifts and accomplishments, Bobby gave freely of himself so that others might benefit from them as well. From home renovation for low-income families to charity golf outings, Bobby was a familiar and exciting presence. Bobby's personal magnetism was well-known on and off the court. His good humor, high values and generous spirit won him friends and fans wherever he went.

The BPSF is committed to continue his legacy and make a positive difference in the lives of youth for years to come. Our mission is to help economically disadvantaged individuals get back on track by providing opportunities that will change their lives. The Bobby Phills Scholarship Fund has established three key programs in an effort to support this mission.

The Bobby Phills Foundation Overview

Phillin' Futures (Scholarship Programs)

Since the establishment of the foundation in June of 2000, over $275,000 has been pledged and donated in scholarships and grants.

- Bobby Phills Scholarship: Annually, five $5,000 scholarships are awarded to graduating seniors in the Mecklenburg (N.C.) and surrounding counties. Applicants are selected on the basis of academic achievement, financial need, quality of essay and extracurricular activities.
- Hoops for a Higher Education Partnership: In 2003, The BPSF, The New Orleans Hornets and Dillard University partnered together to provide a total of $160,000 in financial assistance to incoming freshman at Dillard University in New Orleans, La. (32 one-time $5,000 scholarships in combined fund)
- Thurgood Marshall Scholarship Fund Partnership – $100,000 was donated by The Bobby Phills Scholarship Fund and matched by TMSF for a total of $200,000 to provide 16 students with a four-year scholarship to Southern University in Baton Rouge, La.

Phillin' Dreams (Holiday Giving Campaign)

- Thanksgiving Dinner Giveaway – The BPSF partnered with the Charlotte Mecklenburg Community Policing Department to donate Thanksgiving meals to needy families.
- Agape Family Center Christmas Party – The Agape Family Center is a respite care center for children and their families that have been affected by or infected with HIV. The BPSF provides a Christmas Party for the center that includes lunch, presents, and a visit from Santa.

Phillin' Safe (The Bobby Phills Foundation Safe Driving Campaign)

- The Bobby Phills Foundation has partnered with Charlotte's Traffic Safety Advisory Committee to present the 2004 "Speed A Little, Lose A Lot" campaign.
- With TSAC's assistance, the Bobby Phills Foundation has developed a safe driving program targeted at drivers 16-20 years old. The program centers on in-school appearances by Kendall Phills. These appearances feature thoughtful discussions of driving issues and a hard-hitting video illustrating the consequences of speeding.
